

Redefine the way
your community sees
the places they live
and work in.

It's important to belong. In the office, at home, in your community. Without this you can feel alone, removed from a network of people. Most of our lifetime is spent working, and if that's in a place full of strangers, we're bound to feel isolated. That's a problem we exist to fix.

myLocus redefines the way people live and work. With the myLocus portal, catalyse your bricks and mortar commercial buildings into inspired communities for people. We are for happier living. We are for landlords, tenants, and the friends we've yet to meet.
